ONE DOLLAR AND FIFTY CENTS A YEAR IN ADVANCE

JUDGE R. S. ROSE TALKS STRAIGHT FROM THE SHOULDER

Before giving his opening address to the petit and grand juries Monday, Judge R. S. Rose introduced Rev. John Owen Gross, who took occasion to congratulate those present and the county generally that we again have a county health nurse in the person of Miss Edna A. Reinstedler and forthwith introduced her to the assembly.

Miss Reinstedler made a neat little speech saying she was glad to be with us and stating that if she can be of service to anyone in any way she will appreciate it if called upon. She said that as a stranger she will be glad if people will speak to her and get to know her so that we may all work together. By having the kindly assistance of everybody she feels that the work can be made a success. Personally, she promised to do all possible to that end. Her talk was greeted with applause.

Judge Rose, in speaking to the juries said the enforcement of law is partly a psychological matter. If people get the idea the law is going to be enforced, there will be much less crime in the country. The reverse is also true.

It is of supreme importance that the Grand Jury be composed of honorable men. "I hate the idea of men trying to get away from jury duty because they can make more money at something else. It is a matter of common duty that men should serve."

Judge Rose urged that they take their work seriously and not permit friendship, enmity, partisanship nor anything else influence their plain duty. The spineless man ought not to be found on the Grand Jury. He is totally unfit for the work.

He urged that indictments be returned in those cases where men think they can wink at the law, such as compulsory school law, the road law. The main cause of crime is ignorance and the school law must be obeyed.

The speaker quoted Ezra as "one set on keeping the statutes and ordinances of Jehovah" and not only knowing them but doing them.

Don't fall for buncombe, lying or perjury. They are rampant.

Judge Rose said he did not propose to run his court on hysteria, but along the lines of justice to each man and common sense. "I want to do it so that I can live and die by it." He said he got sick and sore over the anonymous letters he received about crime when the same people had not the courage to take such facts to the Grand Jury.

There is nothing that takes the heart out of the Commonwealth Attorney or any other officer as when a man is turned loose and they know that it has been done by the shrewdness and cunning of some criminal lawyer. "Don't let them send you snipe hunting. I have known them put a thing over and then laugh about it afterwards." He spoke of instances where people have attempted to influence cases by personal appeal out of court to prevent trial.

England convicts 85 per cent of its homicide cases — the United States turns loose 85 per cent. Of 384 cases in New York there were only 48 convictions last year. Where about four or five years ago Federal cases numbered 9,000, last year they numbered 70,000. All this is due to the lax enforcement of the law.

Judging by the faces of those present the address made a most favorable impression. If the precepts laid down by Judge Rose are carried out in Knox County there is no doubt we shall have a better and cleaner county.

RED ROBERTS SISTER CAN HAVE ALL BLOOD WANTED

Red Robert's sister can have all the blood that is in the Centre College football team.

This assertion was made by "Humph" Tanner, fullback of the team.

Mrs. Kenneth Humphries, sister of Roberts, is in a critical condition due to anemia. Surgeons say four transfusions of blood will save her. Roberts has already given a gallon of his blood on different occasions. Tanner gave a pint Saturday. He arose from the operating table and went to a dance.—Lexington Leader

Mrs. Humphries has been dangerously ill for several months and her host of Somerset friends have been anxiously watching the reports from her bedside. She was reared in Somerset, where her father and mother Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Roberts now reside.—Somerset Commonwealth.

ALBERT BOSTON HURT

Albert Boston, 21 years of age, a telegraph operator at the L. & N. depot on the third track, was hurt Thursday morning when, in giving orders to the trainmen, his foot slipped from the moving train and he fell partly under the train. By the quick presence of mind of Tom McDonald, who grabbed his feet and pulled his out of his perilous position, his life probably was saved. His back is badly skinned but it will require some time to learn how badly he is hurt. He is now in the Logan Hospital under the care of Dr. J. G. Tye.

BIG ATTRACTION COMING UNDER AUSPICES OF BAND

The officers of the Barbourville Band have arranged to bring The Paramount Players here for an engagement lasting one week starting next Monday night. The Paramount Players is, without question, one of the leading dramatic organizations of the South. Years of study and work, coupled with unusual ability have built this organization to a standard of perfection rarely found in these days when rush and hurry seem the watchword and inferiority the result.

The company is headed by Emma Marie Davis, an artist of vast experience and great accomplishments. She is ably seconded by her talented daughter, Mary Theresa, just in her teens but who has inherited the splendid talent of both her parents and displays artistry far beyond her years.

Among the plays that will be presented here are "The Lone Star Ranger," the dramatization of Zane Grey's novel; "The Coyote," a story of the Northwest Mounted Police; "The Little Lost Sister," a powerful moral play for young girls; "When Bearcat Went Dry," a severe arraignment of illicit distilling; "The Burglar," "Uncle Tom's Cabin," and "The Thief."

Ladies will be admitted free on Monday night upon payment of five cents tax.
